Brief description on the topic:

The EAM began its work in October 1993, within the framework of a partnership between the Departments of Health and Justice of the Government of Catalonia.

Its main objectives are:

- Provide diagnostic orientation and mental health assistance to young offenders in the care of the General Department of Criminal Enforcement in the Community and Juvenile Justice.

- Provide guidance and support to young offenders' families and educational environments in the metropolitan area of Barcelona.
- Provide advice on any issue related to mental health to the Juvenile Justice's professionals and technical teams, and cooperate in implementing an interdisciplinary based strategy on a case by case basis.
 - We have recently begun to develop a Prevention Programme for adolescents aged under 14, who have been reported to the police but who are under the age of criminal responsibility. In this case we have a partnership with the General Management of Infant and Adolescent Care that serves children and adolescents at risk.

In this Webinar we will present one of the cornerstones of our Model which is the multi and Interdisciplinary approach and its main characteristics. Therefore our intervention aims to optimize multi and interdisciplinary intervention that is allowed by the introduction of legal measures. So that different interventions are complementary and mutually reinforcing.

Clear and separate functions of the different interventions, Coordination in a case by case basis, Coherence and Continuity of Care, have turned to be fundamental. A suitable deployment of these features increases the capacity of the professionals to manage with risk situations and Mental Health professionals can focus on mental and emotional issues because they know someone is in charge of risk situations and basic needs (housing, education, family issues). On the other hand the involvement of more than only one professional working together in a cooperative way offers a model of identification to the adolescents, modulates frustration and anxiety triggered by close professional relationships, and strengthens reflective capacity in thinking.
